TUESDAY, JUNE 6

Justice L. D. Brandeis will take his seat next Monday, June 12.

Uncle Joe Cannon has spent 40 years in Congress and 40 years out.

President Wilson will pay no attention for the present to Carranza's impudent note.

Kingfisher Lake, Daviess county, was stocked last week with 21,000 black bass by the government.

The proposition for the issuance of $185,000 bonds for the construction of good roads in Crittenden county was defeated by a majority of 28 votes.

England is losing sympathy by not fighting. Her part in the war on land and sea has been a stupendous disappointment.

Odds offered in Chicago on candidates for the Republican presidential nomination placed Col. Roosevelt in the lead, with Justice Hughes in second place.

It is announced that a new semi-weekly county paper will be published in Madisonville by Will T. Mills, judge of the county court, and Sioane and Clarence Givens. All three are local parties, the last named being sons of judge C. C. Givens.

President Wilson made an address to the naval academy graduates at the commencement exercises. He declared that great responsibility rests on the naval officers of the United States; that any laxity in their duty might "change the world's history."

More than 46,000 persons were killed or injured in the United States by railroad accidents during the three months ending September 30, 1915. Interstate Commerce Commission figures made public show 2,531 were killed and 43,518 injured.

Mrs. Monsie Robinson, charged with murder of her husband, John Robinson, was given an indeterminate sentence of from eight to twenty years in the penitentiary at her trial at Pikeville, Ky. She admitted she shot her husband, but charged unbearable provocation.

The second of the big preparedness measures, a naval appropriation bill larger by many millions than any ever before considered in congress, passed the house Friday almost unanimously. It carries a building program for next year of five battle cruisers, four scout cruisers, ten destroyers, fifty submarines and 130 aeroplanes, provides for a government armor plate plant, authorizes an increase of nearly 17,000 enlisted men and appropriates a total of $269,900,000.

Both Dear.

"My dear wife spent her early years in a milliner's shop," said a wealthy self-made man the other day. "Mine spends most of her time there now," growled his friend. "She's pretty dear, too."—Stray Stories.

Business Change.

Business is not nearly as sociable as it was when the value of a salesman was estimated largely by his ability to tell funny stories.

His Future Home Apparent.

The man who says he was never scared in all his life ought to begin right now to be afraid of what eternity holds for those who do not tell the truth.

Not by a Long Way.

"De man dat goes lookin' foh trouble," said Uncle Eben, "doesn't most always git de easy kind he had made up his mind to."

A UNIQUE RECORD

Very Few Like It In Our Broad Republic.

Grateful testimony for Doan's Kidney Pills, published everywhere is of itself convincing evidence of merit. Confirmed testimony forms still stronger evidence. Years ago, a citizen of this locality gratefully acknowledged the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills. The statement is now confirmed—the proof more convincing. Cases of this kind are plentiful in the work of Doan's Kidney Pills—the record is unique.

Mrs. A. T. Lee, Elkton, Ky., says: "Kidney disease made me miserable and I could not turn in bed without my back being racked with pain. My strength had left me and I thought I had little longer to live. The kidney secretions were unnatural. I used a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and received relief at once. Continued use made me well and strong."

OVER THREE YEARS LATER, Mrs. Lee said: "I still use Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally and find them an excellent medicine for kidney trouble."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Lee has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

The Missing Remnant.

A certain Lancashire town boasts a full brass band, including a big drum. The drummer, according to the Teller, is about five feet high and rather deaf, but he thinks nobly of his importance to the band. When the band parades, it always takes the same course through the main streets; but the other day the leader, for some purpose known only to himself, turned down a bystreet. The little drummer did not see what was happening in front of him, for to compensate for his lack of height he holds his drum high before him. So with his gaze concentrated on his music he banged away, and marched straight ahead, as usual. About five minutes afterward he finished his part, and, hearing no other instruments, he stopped. Part of the crowd had accompanied him, and they gave him a cheer. But he was ill at ease. He showed his drum to one side and gazed ahead; then on the other, and did likewise. But he saw no band. Then, in uneasy astonishment, he turned to the smiling bystanders and inquired: "Heigh! Has any o' you seen the remnant o' a band anywhere about 'ere?"

Bad to Have a Cold Hang On.

Noon Hour Firmly Established.

The noon hour surely is a firmly established institution in downtown New York. It was not established merely for luncheon, but for numerous other recreations equally as important. Food is not everything. In Battery place the young men who work in the big buildings in that vicinity have organized a baseball club. And it is a real baseball game, too. There is this difference, a tennis ball is substituted for the regular horsehide. And no wonder. For the bat used is not a stout hickory club—it is the human fist. Nevertheless, the game is baseball, with pitcher, catcher, baseman and fielders. Every day, except in rain, it has been the custom to assemble at this spot shortly after the noon hour and start a game. Large crowds turn out to watch and applaud their favorite players—sometimes larger and usually far more enthusiastic crowds than those who pay admission to see the Giants perform.

Feel languid, weak, run down? Headache? Stomach "off"? A good remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters. Ask your druggist. Price $1.00.—Advertisement.

True Happiness.

Happy the man who, remote from busy life, is content, like the primitive race of mortals, to plow his paternal lands with his own oxen, freed from all borrowing and lending.—Horace.

For any itchiness of the skin, for skin rashes, chaps, pimples, etc., try Doan's Ointment. 50c at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

She Broke Down Entirely.

Lantz, W. Va.—Mrs. Tebe Tilbot, of this place, says: "I had been troubled with womanly ailments for some time, and at last I broke down entirely. I got so weak I could scarcely walk across the room. Thanks to Cardui. I improved right off. Now I do my housework, and am feeling well." During the past 50 years, more than a million women have been benefited by taking Cardui. You must believe that Cardui will help you, too, since it helped all these others. Cardui is a safe harmless, vegetable remedy, of positive, curative merit, for women. At drug stores. Try one bottle. It will surely help you.—Advertisement.

SADLY DELUDED.

"A man who was run down by a motorist the other day had a copy of Plato in his pocket."

"One of those absent-minded dreamers, I suppose?"

"Well, no. He said an acquaintance had played a practical joke on him and induced him to take the book home under the impression that it was one of the 'best sellers.'"

INHERITED.

Mrs. Biggs—There goes Mrs. Uppson. She certainly has a graceful carriage.

Mrs. Diggs—Yes; she must have inherited it from her grandfather.

Mrs. Biggs—Was his carriage graceful?

Mrs. Diggs—So I have been told. He used to carry a hod.

HIS FORTE.

Leblinks—Didn't I understand you to say young Crooks is quite an athlete?

Rejinks—Yes. His specialty is running up and jumping board bills.

ITS PLACE.

"Where is my 'elephant's breath' dress?"

"Just where it ought to be—in the trunk."

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I wish to say to my friends and acquaintances that I have been connected with the Keach Furniture Company, for some time and will be connected with the Undertaking Department as a licensed Undertaker from now on.

GROOM IS ONLY INCIDENTAL

How Wedding Account Would Read if Man Were Treated Fairly—Would Never Get Past.

This kind of stuff goes every time it is pulled: "The bride entered the church, leaning on the arm of her father. And truly she was a vision of girlish loveliness in her up-to-date, quaint-style gown of white silk veiled in tulle and embroidered in silver on the low-cut, short-sleeved corsage and flared skirt, walking length. Her flowers were two armfuls of long-stemmed pansies," etc.

But this could be attempted just once: "To the strains of the w. k. Lohengrin bridal chorus the groom entered the church, holding on to his best man. Verily he was a regular god, a Greek god in beauty, and as he stepped proudly along, head up, eyes front, it was as though some martial hero of old advanced to receive his chaplet of laurel leaves."

"His pegtop, flared-knee trousers of black walla-walla wool warp were visible only below the tails of his black walla-walla wool coat. The spats on his fine Passamaquoddy kids were pale lavender. His necktie was a sunburst of color, and so immaculately white was his three-ply Sparrow collar that it dazzled. The cold-gray lizard-skin gloves he wore," etc.

It never would get past. And yet every election day somebody comes and asks us to vote to give woman her rights.—Cleveland Leader.

Those Happy Days.

"Remember the eyes of the nation are on you," exclaimed the constituent. "I know it," replied Senator Sorghum. "And the nation's getting more acutely discerning every day. The time is gone when a man can assume an impressive pose and get by as an optical illusion."—Washington Star.

At the Modern Opera.

Patience—"You say you heard Mme. Highsee in vaudeville today?" Patrice—"Yes; first time she's been heard in this country." Patience—"Nonsense! She sang in this country in opera for two years." Patrice—"Yes, she was in opera, but everybody talks at the opera, and nobody heard her."
